

ADAM BERTRAND

FRANCIS HOWELL SCHOOL DISTRICT
SCHOOL BOARD

ABOUT ME

Adam's family instilled values that helped him become the person he is today. Dedication to education has always been a priority in his life. He spent adolescence in St. Charles County, a Viking! From there, he worked to develop a background in Business and Economics, and MBA from Washington University in St. Louis. Continuing to set his sights high and working hard for opportunities, Adam has spent the last 15 years of his career to help organizations analyze their processes and systems to deliver the best experiences for their clients and customers. As a parent of 4, the value of education is more important than ever. With your help, he will continue to do great work as a FHSD Board member working to improve – Fiscal Responsibility, Educational Excellence, and Transparency.

FISCAL RESPONSIBILITY

Creating dependable budgets, providing useful financial planning, and implementing functional preventative maintenance should be the backbone of the district moving forward.

EDUCATIONAL EXCELLENCE

Teachers are who make the classroom what it is, they are the ones who impact the students, and they are the ones students remember for this impact.

IMPROVED TRANSPARENCY

I will work to improve Francis Howell's policies and process surrounding: Communication, Community Interaction, and Decision Making.
